POMONA, California. (June 7, 2022) – The organizers of Unity Day L.A. today announced that Dr. Alveda King, niece of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., will lead the inaugural Unity Walk on July 4, 2022 in Pomona, California.

The half-mile walk for racial unity and community reconciliation will precede the unveiling of a monumental statue of Harriet Tubman (created by the famous African American sculptor Manuelita Brown) at 10:00 a.m. at Lincoln Park in Pomona. The walk will include all ethnicities, police and the community walking together under the theme “There is a time to protest - There is a time to Unite.” Police and politicians from all around Los Angeles will take part in the effort, walking hand in hand in a display of community unity. Following the Walk, at the L.A. County Fairgrounds, will be the first annual Unity Day LA Celebration. Live music and celebrity boxing will highlight Unity Day LA, and it is the vision of Ray Adamyk, Founder and CEO of Pomona-based Spectra Company, to raise funds for the restoration of the Salem Chapel & Museum and the last stop on the Underground Railroad site in St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada. Performances by musical artists Kumbia Kings, Ray J, Jacquees, Lakeside, Chico De Barge, Aaron Carter, TGM formerly Gap Band, Mali Music, B Howard, Wylde Bunch and more will keep the night alive with their vivacious beats and rhythms.

For Adamyk, taking on the Salem Chapel & Museum project is the most personal undertaking of his entire career, and bigger than any other building he's done previously. Watch this video of him addressing the need for unity and how the restoration of Salem Chapel is a symbol of racial reconciliation.

"Everything we are doing with the Unity Walk and Unity Day LA is in honor of Harriet Tubman and what she represented," said Adamyk. "I want to use Unity Day LA's connection to Harriet and the Salem Chapel to remind people that freedom belongs to all, and we can unite around reconciliation, repentance, forgiveness, and building a future where we can live together in harmony."

The dedication of the Harriet Tubman statue at Lincoln Park is scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on July 4, 2022, along with remarks from Adamyk, Dr. Alveda King, Pomona Mayor Tim Sandoval and Elizabeth Zamora, CEO of Bright Prospects.
